3	D Martin  T Argus	11 Congressional Crescent, Connolly 6027  17 Portmarnock Circuit Connolly 6027	Support for the following reasons: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Recognise environmental and social importance of the area. Notes Main Roads WA's clearing permit recognises the vegetation as 'very good' and prevents its clearance.</li> <li>• Encourage local community support and awareness of habitat of Carnaby cockatoos.</li> <li>• Provide natural educational resource for the local community. Notes that the community has participated in revegetation programme.</li> </ul> Claims the land is not currently named according to Landgate records.	Request the Minister's approval to name the reserve "Carnaby Reserve".  It is noted that Schedule 5 of the City's DPS2 recognises the site as significant in terms of protecting the local flora and fauna. The renaming proposal does not impact on the listing, or on the site's educational opportunities.  The City normally names a park or reserve land in relation to the road on which it is located to make it easy to

This may not happen in a new estate if a developer proposes an alternative name and the City has no objection. In this case, the land is named after Medinah Mews which is located on its western boundary at its southern end. As naming usually occurs when the land is being subdivided, a request to name the land would ordinarily be sent to GNC for its consideration. Landgate officers dealing with the subdivision process would be expected to ensure the name provided by the City satisfies the GNC's criteria. Due to the costs associated with advertising in the newspapers and erecting signage on site, the notice is succinct and provides few details to minimise costs. Interested people can obtain information/further details from City officers or view the previous Council report.
